In one sentence: Visa Slot Guard helps you spend less time and effort looking for a visa appointment, but it is not a magic wand. It cannot guarantee that you will get an appointment.

1. What Visa Slot Guard is

Visa Slot Guard is a Chrome extension that helps you manage the time and effort of searching for an appointment. While you are signed in to the visa appointment portal, it can:

- check the posts you choose for open dates more often than you could by hand;
- alert you, with sounds and notifications, when it sees dates or times open up;
- select an open time and submit the booking for you, so you lose fewer seconds when it matters.

2. What it is not: no guarantee of a slot

Visa Slot Guard does not and cannot guarantee that you will get an appointment, a particular date, time or post, or any appointment within a particular time frame. In particular:

- Appointments are released by the portal, in limited numbers, and are often taken within seconds by many applicants at the same time.
- The portal can be slow, busy, unavailable, or change the way it works at any time. When that happens the extension may miss openings or stop working until it is updated.
- A booking can still fail after a slot is found, for example if the time is taken first, your session expires, or a security check appears.
- An OFC appointment is generally held for only a short time (often about 45 to 60 minutes) while you book the consular appointment. The extension cannot extend that time or guarantee the second booking.

3. Not affiliated with any government or the portal

Visa Slot Guard is an independent tool. It is not affiliated with, endorsed by, or connected to the U.S. Department of State, any U.S. embassy or consulate, or the operators of the visa appointment portal. Official information about visas, fees and appointments comes only from official sources.

4. Your responsibilities

- You use the extension with your own portal account, on your own device, by your own choice.
- You are responsible for following the portal's terms of use and the rules that apply to your application.
- Always check every booking yourself in the portal: the date, time, location and applicant details. The extension's messages and notifications are a convenience, not a confirmation.
- The portal may slow down, challenge or restrict accounts that use automated tools. You accept that risk.
- Keep your device, browser and account secure, and do not share your account.

5. Your data

- Your portal password and security answers stay in your browser, encrypted. They are never sent to us.
- To run the service, the extension sends us your Visa Slot Guard account email, the extension's ID, your public IP address, and activity records such as slot checks, open dates seen and booking outcomes (with the portal's security tokens masked).
- We use this to operate the service, manage your free trial and account, and show every user how busy each post has been, as anonymous counts per post only.

6. Free trial and access

New accounts get a free trial for the period shown when the account is approved. Access may be paused or ended when the trial ends, if the service changes, or in case of misuse.

7. No warranty and limitation of liability

Visa Slot Guard is provided "as is" and "as available", without warranties of any kind. To the fullest extent permitted by law, its makers are not liable for any loss or damage arising from its use or from being unable to use it, including missed appointments, failed or incorrect bookings, rescheduling, fees, travel or other costs, or restrictions placed on your portal account.
